The Festival

There is a distinct difference between this year's festival and last year's centennial celebration. It's not in scope and scale for certainly we had an impressive 100th jubilee last year what with a glittering gala dinner, spectacular show and a fantastic fundraiser. The difference is not so much what was out there as much as what was felt in the heart. Somehow, I felt that there was a good spirit hanging in the air. People were more relaxed and at ease, smiling and chatting. That good spirit I felt too at the Saturday mass when the statue of St. Bruno was processed out and people broke into spontaneous applause. There was energy and passion in the vibrant and vigorous singing of the Tongan choir; the spontaneous shouts of "Que viva San Bruno!" by the Latino group; and the grit and determination of the Filipino men to do their share in carrying the statue around the block. People lining up to the altar to drop their offerings was another touching sight. Of course, not everything was perfect. There was some sort of scuffle but order was quickly restored. The music was deafeningly loud, sorry about that. As a whole, however, I do believe that we are growing as a community.

Let's hear what others have to say. Read on:

The focus was on building community, rather than money. Virtues were an excellent alternative to "queens". Would like to see more entertainment starting earlier, less volume on the disc jockey speakers and more skits involving the Spanish community. — Kacey

The festival brought the community together. It was a wonderful experience to see the different ethnic groups present their cultures to entertain an enthusiastic audience. It was well attended and the atmosphere was truly festive & welcoming. — Ofelia

The raffle was a success. Thank you for the support of everyone who participated in the raffle project for St. Bruno. — Cynthia

The turnout of this year's festival was a better turnout than last year's. Everything was a success. — Rosa

Great! I loved the crowd. And my favorite part was when Fr. Michael came and personally said hello to me.—Mosese

Very nice, more items than last year. We were really united as one—Hine

The DJ music was way too loud and you couldn't hear Fr. Michael & Cristina when they spoke; nor the final Tongan group; the sound needs work. I was disappointed to see how disruptive the Tongan Community was with yelling, laughing, and talking through performances and people speaking—Pamela

Thank you, Gracias, Malo 'aupito. Salamat po.

El Festival

Hay una clara diferencia entre el festival de este año y la celebración del centenario del año pasado. No es en el alcance y la escala de duda tuvimos una impresionante 100 jubileo del año pasado lo que con una cena de gala brillante, espectacular show y una fantástica recaudación de fondos. La diferencia no es tanto lo que estaba por ahí tanto como lo que se siente en el corazón. De alguna manera, sentí que había un buen espíritu en el aire. La gente estaba más relajado ya gusto, sonriendo y charlando. Que buen espíritu me sentía demasiado en la misa el sábado, cuando la estatua de San Bruno se procesó a cabo y la gente rompió en un aplauso espontáneo. No había energía y pasión en el canto vibrante y vigorosa del coro de Tonga, los gritos espontáneos de "Que viva San Bruno" por el grupo latino, y el valor y la determinación de los hombres filipinos a hacer su parte en la realización de la estatua alrededor del bloque. Gente haciendo cola para el altar para dejar sus ofrendas fue otro espectáculo conmovedor. Por supuesto, no todo fue perfecto. Había una especie de pelea, pero el orden fue restaurado rápidamente. La música era ensordecedor, lo siento por eso. En conjunto, sin embargo, yo creo que estamos creciendo como comunidad.

Vamos a escuchar lo que otros tienen que decir. Siga leyendo:

La atención se centró en la construcción de la comunidad, en lugar de dinero. Virtudes son una excelente alternativa a "reinas". Me gustaría ver más entretenimiento de parte anterior, menos volumen en los altavoces de disc jockey y más parodias que involucran a la comunidad española. — Kacey

El festival reunió a la comunidad. Fue una experiencia maravillosa para ver los diferentes grupos étnicos presentan sus culturas para entretener a un público entusiasta. Se contó con la asistencia y el ambiente era realmente festivo y acogedor. — Ofelia

La rifa fue un éxito. Gracias por el apoyo de todos los que participaron en el proyecto de la rifa de San Bruno.—Cynthia

La participación del festival de este año fue una mejor participación que el año pasado. Todo fue un éxito.—Rosa

Genial! Me encantó la multitud. Y mi parte favorita fue cuando el Padre Michael se acercó y saludó personalmente. —Mosese

Muy bonito, más elementos que el año pasado. Estábamos muy unidos—Hine

La música del DJ era demasiado fuerte y no podía oír al Padre Michael y Cristina cuando hablaban, ni el grupo final de Tonga, el sonido necesita trabajar. Me ha decepcionado al ver como la Comunidad de Tonga fue perturbadora con gritos, riendo y hablando durante las presentaciones — Pamela

Thank you, Gracias, Malo 'aupito. Salamat po.

Year of the Faith

Weekly Reflection

By Michelle Shimamoto

"By your work you show what you love and what you know." - St Bruno

My favorite part of the Saint Bruno Parish Festival is how all our parish communities come together to share experiences, food, & laughs - as one family. We give our time, talent, and treasure for one common, unchanging purpose - the love of Christ. We come to know and love God through serving alongside each other.

Before I knew Christ, I used to volunteer and do "good deeds", but I would find myself getting exhausted with all the "work" and frustrated when personality conflicts would arise during the service activities. I used to think to myself, "Why am I doing this? These people are so unreasonable and I'm just here to help out."

As Christ grows in me, our merciful Father helps me to see through His eyes and love with His heart. Now, my prayer is: "Thank you, Lord, for working in me and helping me to see challenges as vehicles of growth. I love You with all my heart and soul. I'm sorry for my shortcomings. Help me to obtain the grace to grow in Faith, Hope, and Love. Help me to cooperate with you, so that You can use my hands to do Your work. And amidst life's changes and storms, help me to keep my eyes fixed on You. Then, everything will either fall into place or fall away. Amen."

"While the world changes, the cross stands firm." - St Bruno

A MUSICAL LITURGY

Did you ever wonder why the liturgy of the Church is woven so extensively with music? Today's readings give us some idea of why this is true. Liturgical music helps us express the depth and range of feeling that words alone cannot convey. Did you ever notice that sometimes the singing of "Happy Birthday" by a small number of people at a birthday party is stronger and louder than the singing of a familiar hymn or song by several hundred people at Sunday Mass? Perhaps the problem lies with the fact that too often we do not bring into our consciousness the reality that we actually do have something to sing about.

LITURGIA MUSICAL

¿Alguna vez te preguntaste por qué la liturgia de la Iglesia está tan entrelazada con la música? Las lecturas de hoy nos dan una buena idea del por qué es así. La música litúrgica nos ayuda a expresar la profundidad y la gama de sentimientos que las palabras solas no pueden comunicar. ¿Notaste que algunas veces cuando un grupo pequeño de personas canta "Cumpleaños Feliz" en una fiesta el canto es más fuerte y más alto que cuando cientos de personas cantan un himno o una canción conocida en la misa del domingo? Quizás el problema está en que demasiadas veces no tomamos conciencia de que en realidad sí tenemos motivo para cantar.
