Endurance

Endurance is the ability to sustain a prolonged stressful effort or activity for a long time. Endurance is a deciding factor in sports, especially in marathon and soccer where athletes or players have not only to be strong, quick and agile but to have the stamina to last till the final mile of the race or the final minute of the game.

In the ongoing World Cup 2014, as in regular soccer matches, goals are scored in the final 15 minutes. Take the stoppage time, the 91st minute goal scored by Lionel Messi that gave Argentina victory over Iran. Equally dramatic was the superb pass from Cristiano Ronaldo that scored the equalizing goal for Portugal and postponed the celebration of the US team in its advance to the next stage. These players endured to the end. Tenacity or endurance is also the reason why El Tri of Mexico is not only still in FIFA 2014 but is thriving. The team that almost failed to gain a spot for the world cup were not for the win of US over Panama in the qualifying round, has shown a lot of guts and grit. Yes, the Mexican players are tenacious and persevering, thanks to a large degree to their coach Miguel Herrera who understands the demands of the game to be steadfast and persevering that he required his players to abstain from sex and alcohol for the duration of the competition. Did you know that more effort is expended in soccer than in basketball? On average a basketball player runs 2 miles during a game; in soccer, a player runs 8 miles. Yet Lebron James is world-famous but how many know Clint Dempsey? He is the US soccer team captain who scored the first goal against Ghana. Then he got kicked in the face, broke his nose and coughed up blood. But in the next game against Portugal, there he was scoring again. That's endurance.

In a running event, a sprint can be as short as 100 meters whereas the marathon is a distance of 26.2 miles. The marathon is 2,590,000 meters longer than the 100-meter dash! Yet how many know Stephen Kiprotich, the marathon winner in Olympics 2012? I myself didn't know. I had google it. On the other hand, "Hussein Bolt" of the 100-meter dash, is easily recognizable.

Like in sports, endurance in faith is crucial. It can make or break you. Not only are we called to have faith and do good acts but to do them again and again with consistency. We don't need to be flashy and accomplish extra-ordinary feat, we just need to be there, to show up day in and day out, till the last of our breath.

This is what St. Paul claims for himself at the end of his life. "I have competed well. I have finished the race. I have kept the faith." (2 Tim 4, 7).

When we reached the end of our lives, may we make those words of St. Paul our own.

Resistencia

La resistencia es la capacidad de mantener un esfuerzo estresante prolongado o actividad durante un largo tiempo. La resistencia es un factor decisivo en el deporte, sobre todo en el maratón y el fútbol, donde los atletas o jugadores no sólo tienen que ser fuertes, rápidos y ágiles pero para tener la resistencia para durar hasta el último kilómetro de la carrera o el último minuto de juego.

En la Copa del Mundo 2014 que esta en curso, como en los partidos de fútbol regulares, se anota un gol en los últimos 15 minutos. Tome el tiempo, el 91 minuto un gol anotado por Lionel Messi que le dio a Argentina la victoria sobre Irán. Igualmente dramático fue el magnífico pase de Cristiano Ronaldo que anotó el gol del empate para Portugal y aplazó la celebración del equipo de Estados Unidos en su avance a la siguiente etapa. Estos jugadores aguantaron hasta el final.

La tenacidad o la resistencia es también la razón por la que El Tri de México no sólo sigue en la FIFA 2014, pero está prosperando. El equipo que casi no pudo ganar un lugar para la copa del mundo de no ser por la victoria de Estados Unidos sobre Panamá en la fase de clasificación, ha demostrado mucho coraje y la arena. Sí, los jugadores mexicanos son tenaces y perseverantes, gracias a una gran parte de su entrenador Miguel Herrera que entiende las exigencias del juego a es firme y perseverante que requiere a sus jugadores que se abstengan de tener relaciones sexuales y alcohol durante la duración de la competencia.

¿Sabía usted que más esfuerzo se gasta en el fútbol que en el baloncesto? En promedio, un jugador de baloncesto corre 2 millas durante un juego; en el fútbol, un jugador corre 8 millas. Sin embargo, Lebron James es mundialmente famoso, pero ¿cuántos conocen a Clint Dempsey? Él es el capitán del equipo de fútbol de Estados Unidos que anoto el primer gol contra Ghana. Luego lo patearon en la cara, se rompió la nariz y tosía sangre. Pero en el próximo partido contra Portugal, anoto de nuevo. Esa es la resistencia.

En una competencia, una carrera de velocidad puede ser tan corto como a 100 metros, mientras que el maratón es una distancia de 26.2 millas. El maratón es 2,590,000 metros más larga que la carrera de 100 metros! Sin embargo, ¿cuántos conocen a Stephen Kiprotich, el ganador del maratón en los Juegos Olímpicos del 2012? Yo mismo no lo sabía. Tube que buscarlo en google. Por otro lado, "Hussein Bolt" de la carrera de 100 metros, es fácilmente reconocible.

Al igual que en los deportes, la resistencia en la fe es crucial. Se puede hacer o romper contigo. No sólo estamos llamados a tener fe y hacer actos buenos, sino a hacer una y otra vez con la consistencia. No necesitamos ser llamativos y logramos hazaña extraordinaria, sólo tenemos que estar ahí, para mostrar día tras día, hasta el último de nuestra respiración.

Esto es lo que San Pablo sostiene por sí mismo al final de su vida. "He competido bien. He acabado la carrera. He guardado la fe." (2 Tim 4, 7).

Cuando llegamos al final de nuestra vida, podemos hacer que esas palabras de San Pablo sean nuestras.

PETER AND PAUL

Today is something of a rarity: the celebration of a saint's day that replaces the Sunday liturgy. Only a handful of these days, given the official rank of "solemnity," are considered so foundational and primal to the mission of the Church that they can interrupt the Sunday sequence. And so it is with Peter and Paul today.

In a way, they each have personality traits with which we can identify. They are both impetuous, sometimes acting or speaking thoughtlessly, contradicting the spiritual gifts given to them by God. At such times, they might receive a nudge from God, much the same as many of us experience. On the positive side, these men were deeply rooted in their faith in Christ, tireless and fearless in living out their call to spread the Good News of his death and resurrection. Perhaps we might identify more with one or the other, but the essential truth we celebrate today is this: Through the Spirit, Christ built and continues to build the Church and make the kingdom known through fragile, remarkable human beings, each graced in a particular way for the work of the reign of God. *Copyright © J. PEDRO Y PABLO

Hoy es una rareza: la celebración del día de un santo que reemplaza la liturgia del domingo. Sólo un puñado de días como éste, con rango oficial de "solemnidad", son considerados tan fundamentales y primarios en la misión de la Iglesia que pueden interrumpir la secuencia de los domingos. Tal es el caso de san Pedro y san Pablo hoy día.

De cierta manera, cada uno tiene rasgos de personalidad con los que nos podemos identificar: ambos son impetuosos, a veces actuando y hablando sin pensar, contradiciendo los dones espirituales que Dios les había dado. En esos casos, tal vez reciben un empujoncito de Dios, como los que muchos de nosotros hemos sentido. En lo positivo, la fe de estos hombres estuvo profundamente fundamentada en Cristo, incansables y valientes cuando vivían su llamado de anunciar la Buena Noticia de su muerte y resurrección. Quizás nos identificamos más con uno que otro, pero la verdad esencial que celebramos hoy es esta: por el Espíritu, Cristo edificó y continúa edificando la Iglesia y da a conocer el Reino por medio de frágiles y notables seres humanos, cada uno con una gracia particular para la obra del Reino de Dios. *Copyright © J.
